Kaleidescape Named “Best of the Best” in Home Entertainment

Robb Report and Residential Systems Select the Kaleidescape System as a Product of Choice that Combines the Best in Technology, Design and Usability

Mountain View, CA, Nov. 17, 2005 – Kaleidescape Inc., the award-winning leader in entertainment servers, continues to garner industry accolades, recently being honored with awards from Robb Report and Residential Systems magazines. Both publications chose the Kaleidescape System as a top product in 2005, further demonstrating the company’s ongoing success in redefining whole-home entertainment.

The Kaleidescape System was featured in Robb Report’s annual “Best of the Best” special issue that names the finest products and services in the luxury world. Robb Report editors spent months uncovering the best items for every aspect of the luxury lifestyle, from automobiles and jets to fashion, wine and travel. The eagerly-anticipated issue, considered an essential buyer’s guide for readers, featured the Kaleidescape System as a ‘must-have’ product for the ultimate in entertainment.

Residential Systems’ “Resi Awards,” which honor the most innovative product designs in the custom installation industry, named the Kaleidescape System “Home Networking Product of the Year.” Entries were reviewed by a panel of well-regarded custom installers and industrial designers who judged products based on aesthetic appeal, problem-solving capabilities and ergonomic design. The Kaleidescape System was one of an elite group of 14 winners.

“It is an honor to be recognized by well-respected publications such as Robb Report and Residential Systems,” said Michael Malcolm, Kaleidescape’s founder, chairman and CEO. “These awards validate our efforts to deliver a new and exciting home entertainment experience using innovative technology and services.”
